

Spring Prom

One by one the "queens" arrived as the Union chapter of Alpha Delta Phi once more threw open its doors to welcome the arrival of the long awaited Spring Prom. No sooner had the dates arrived, when their attention was immediately drawn to the strained atmosphere that existed throughout the house. One who was foreign to the scene would be prompted to ask the question "Who died?", but those who knew the situation were well aware that at 7:35 in the evening the real test would come—The Interfraternity Sing. No member of the gallant "13" was wasting precious lung power on his date—all was silent throughout the house. Dinner was scorned by many even though our own "Ludmilla" had extended herself in "whomping up" a wonderful "fish" dinner. As the fatal hour drew near the group descended the basement steps to the bar and had a few quick "warming up exercises". The reasons for retiring to the bar, were, of course, for its wonderful acoustics and structural similarity to Memorial Chapel. On the way to the sing, our very able conductor-arranger Bro. J. Scott thought he saw Margaret Truman disguised as one of the dates, so we had to discard our original plan of singing "Old Soldiers Never Die" and sing "Manus Multae Cor Unum" and "I Get a Kick Out of You" rather than cause violent repercussions in Washington and contract a possible black eye from someone. The sing went well, however, and Alpha Delt showed its prowess once again by placing near the top.

The sing was soon ancient history however, as everyone prepared for the Prom and the "gone sounds" of Messieurs Bernie Mann and Larry Green, who; (lucky us!) were acquired by swapping Vaughan Monroe, Tennessee Ernie, Roy Rogers (Trigger too), and some piano player from Missouri. An Alpha Delt Queen was chosen to represent the house at the dance. Bro. Pres. Meneely's fiancée Milcent Warren received the honor. The Prom waltzed by and soon two plus the bewitching hour drew nigh and the bar was once again filled.

Saturday morning heralded the busiest day of the weekend, but as the lacrosse game, track meet, and cocktail party staggered by it was time once again to take one's date into his arms and—dance; for under the expert choice of the Prom committee a fine band had been hired. Saturday, like every other day, had to make way for Sunday and our annual Spring Prom "outing". The picnic proved to be once again the highlight of the weekend as we discovered the food had been left at the house. Even the picnic could not withstand time and soon the dates were on their way home. A final round of toasting the fond memories of the weekend ensued and it was no more.

Those responsible for the weekend should be congratulated, especially Bro. D. Smithemar, who was chairman. We are only sorry that like all other Old Proms this one too—had to "fade away".
