INTRAMURALS.

The scene of Intramural action at Union this year was one of much activity. The Alpha Deltas, in view of the recent athletic scandals, decided against subsidizing any athletes; however, our record was not too bad in spite of this. In football we had a 500 season. Brothers Reiners, Thelin, DeBello, Scott, Shorter, Munro, Odell, Jacobs, Williams, Donohoe, and many others were staunch supporters of our powerful gridiron dreadnaught.

In Intramural basketball, we started off well but ended up so far behind that it looked like we were ahead three laps ahead in the race. Swimming, on the other hand, was very good: freshman Bill O'Brien captured two firsts and a second, to place the A.D.'s near the front.

Our debating team, consisting of Brothers Shorter and Genthner, did extremely well and captured second place losing to Kappa Alpha in the finals. At the Intrafraternity Sing on Dec. 2nd, our choristers led by director Baldy Donohoe took second place, a tremendous improvement over last year's position.

Our softball team has been and is now still a threat and is definitely angling for a winner's laurel in that event. It is safe to say that while we have not always won, the House has enthusiastically supported all its intramural activities with a spirit and gusto which has not been seen by the A.D.'s in some years.

SKI TRIP.

Renewing a pleasant sport known to many Alpha Deltas in the past, a few brothers strapped on their skis and headed north for the snowy hills this winter. Not since two years ago in the days of Brothers Anderson, Meyer, and Cumberland, all in the class of 1950, has the smell of ski lacquer floated through the house. In the middle of February Brothers Davies, Vesty, Scott and Clough journeyed to Stowe, Vermont for the weekend. Spending a few days at Brother Chuck Savage's lodge, The Logwood, would have been a wonderful time in itself. Any of you who ski probably already know Chuck and his wife Janet. If you don't, put a trip to Stowe and Logwood on your list of things to do next winter. It was a pleasure to meet another Alpha Delt skier at The Logwood during the weekend, Brother Walt Nuckols, his son and another young friend.

Fortunately, both days presented good snow and provided wonderful skiing. Since this was the first time for all four brothers at Stowe the 6000 foot chair lift was quite an experience to all of them, especially the wide-spreading view of mountain peaks from the top of Mount Mansfield. The trail down was an anticlimax.

As they loaded their skis on their car top late Sunday afternoon, a few promises were heard to make this trip an annual custom. When the brothers returned to school they were surprised and delighted to find some local alumni brothers who were quite familiar with skiing at Stowe. It is amazing how much enjoyment a group of enthusiastic skiers can get just rehashing old times.

Some were able to tear themselves away from Schenectady and our books for a few shorter trips to lower Vermont and the Adirondacks. Brother Ten Eyck and Brother Clough spent on a truly great day of skiing at North Creek, New York. There were even a few, crazy as it may sound, who were actually sorry to see winter come to an end.
